Toyota has agreed to a class action settlement to resolve claims of certain 2012 to 2015 Camry XV50 vehicles purchased or leased in California (“Subject Vehicles”). The Settlement provides a reimbursement program for certain expenses.

What is this lawsuit about?

Plaintiffs allege that the Subject Vehicles contain a defective heating, ventilation and air-conditioning system (“HVAC System”). Toyota denies all claims and allegations brought against it in the lawsuit, but has agreed to the Settlement to resolve the case. The Court has not decided who is right.

Who is Included in the Settlement?

You are included in the Settlement if you are an individual who reside(d) in California and own, lease, or previously owned or leased a Subject Vehicle as of May 31, 2024. You can visit www.ToyotaCaliforniaHVACSettlement.com, which contains a Vehicle Identification Number (VIN) lookup tool, to check the eligibility of your vehicle.

What Are the Settlement Benefits?

The proposed Settlement provides (i) reimbursement for reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred on or before May 31, 2024, to replace and install a charcoal filter in a Subject Vehicle and/or flush the evaporator on a Subject Vehicle; and (ii) reimbursement up to $100 for reasonable out-of-pocket expenses that are incurred after May 31, 2024, to replace and install a charcoal filter in a Subject Vehicle.
